Local kids whiz by tests

Valley students are reading well, by state standards, with Sunol's elementary children most proficient of all. This year's standardized state reading scores are out. Livermore students are markedly lower than those in the rest of the Valley in reading, especially at the elementary level.

But even in Livermore, scores are well above the state average. Sunol Glen children scored in the 99th, or highest possible percentile level in the reading tests they took last spring, administered by the state Department of Education. The high score indicates that according to factors the state is taking into consideration, such as the children's family income level, language spoken at home, and educational level of the parents, Sunol Elementary School is doing more than expected in making local pupils into high reading achievers. On the other hand, all other Valley school districts are doing about what can be expected in terms of their students' background.

Valley educators warn that two factors must be considered when looking at the state tests: First, inevitably the state tests only give credit for certain reading skills and ignore other components of good reading (for example, they test whether a child can remember specific details about a story but they do not test whether a child knows how to infer the meaning of a word from context clues.)

Pleasanton and Dublin students in the Amador Valley Joint Union High School District rolled up a score in the 78th percentile. Across the valley in Livermore, students also scored at the 78th percentile in high school.

Meanwhile, San Ramon Valley high school students rolled up an impressive 94th percentile score (including students in the Danville area).

The elementary school picture looked like this:

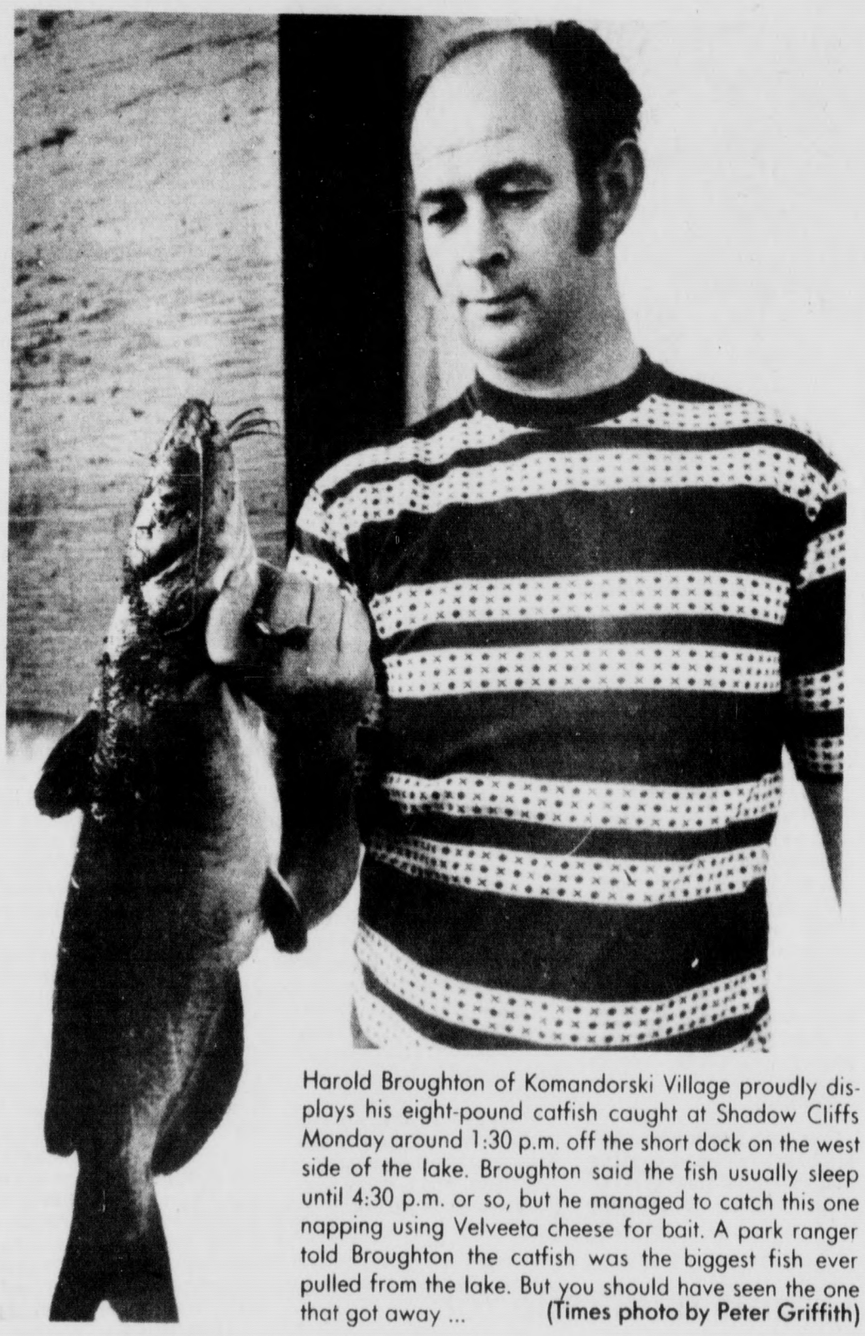
Further explanation of the scores is expected from individual school districts at a later date.



Harold Broughton of Komandorski Village proudly displays his eight-pound catfish caught at Shadow Cliffs Monday around 1:30 p.m. off the short dock on the west side of the lake. Broughton said the fish usually sleep until 4:30 p.m. or so, but he managed to catch this one napping using Velveeta cheese for bait. A park ranger told Broughton the catfish was the biggest fish ever pulled from the lake. But you should have seen the one that got away ... (Times photo by Peter Griffith)

Voters may get choice
Agency fate on line?

PLEASANTON — Voters should have the opportunity to tell the city council whether the redevelopment agency, not just the redevelopment plan, should be eliminated.

That was the sentiment of a majority of the council yesterday.

Council members will vote next Monday on the exact wording for a March ballot measure polling voters on whether the Pleasanton redevelopment plan should be scrapped. Some redevelopment critics have suggested that voters should express themselves not just on the plan, but also the very existence of the redevelopment agency.

Council members Joyce LeClaire, Roger McLain and William Herlihy agreed with that view yesterday.

"I've been thinking about this for quite some time," said LeClaire. "The outpouring of public opinion has made it clear that people are unhappy with the agency. If the plan were denied, the agency would have no use.

"I'm inclined to put on the ballot the question of whether the people favor the existence of an agency," said LeClaire.

Herlihy said the referendum is being held because Citizens Against Re-Development asked for it. The group's main concern is the existence of the agency and so the question of the agency's existence ought to be on the ballot, said Herlihy.

The question can be worded so voters comment on both the existence of the agency and the plan, said McLain.

"We should mention both to make it clear to people that we are not trying to put something over on them," said McLain.

But what if some people want to scrap the plan and kill the agency? Wouldn't it be tough to write it all into one question? "If we come up with an alternative plan (at some future date), we can create the agency again," said McLain. He emphasized that if the agency were created again, there would be a series of public hearings before the council voted on the question.

"The question should not be a simple 'Should the redevelopment agency be dissolved?,' but 'Should the redevelopment agency implement this plan?'

"For the citizens to make a valid assessment of the redevelopment, they have to know what the plan is, so it should be on the ballot. If the plan is turned down, we'll also turn down the agency," said Philcox. "I have no thoughts of bringing up another plan six months or a year from now if this is defeated. I have no designs on changing this plan. It has been changed enough."

Mayor Ed Kinney was unavailable for comment. He reportedly told a newspaper last week that the council should keep the option open for continuing the agency. Voters should vote on the plan, but not the existence of the redevelopment agency, Kinney reportedly told the press.

Inflation boosts trunk price

The awarding of a $63,430 contract for relocation of an 18-inch sanitary sewer trunk on Dublin Boulevard under I-680 freeway bridge is on the agenda of the Valley Community Services District Board of Directors meeting, 7:30 p.m. tonight. The board will meet in the VCSD Building, 7051 Dublin Blvd., Dublin.

The original relocation cost estimate set forth in Utilities Agreement 105.24.1 on May 20, 1975 was $42,000.

Upon completion of final plans and specifications the estimate was revised upward to $56,000.

The lowest bid ultimately received for the work was $63,430.

The Board must approve the cost amendment to the utilities agreeement. The State of California, which is paying for the relocation, has already approved the $63,430 bid.

The board will also receive an up-date of progress on development of Athan Downs, Boone Acres, and Dublin Sports Grounds from general manager Paul Ryan.

The gymnastics program and AAU swim program at San Ramon Olympic Pool will be reviewed.

The board will consider a final draft of a joint powers agreement of the Congress of Valley Agencies. The agreement has been entered into by the City of Livermore, the City of Pleasanton, Valley Community Services District, and Zone 7 of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Management District.

Also on the agenda is a communication from Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) to its participating agencies. The Environmental Protection Agency has asked LAVWMA to inform EPA of any legal steps taken by LAVWMA to eliminate secondary effects.

LAVWMA has no authority to implement legal actions, and has asked its members to respond individually.

Amador trustees ponder smoking, elective P.E.

PLEASANTON — The Campus Smoking Legislation and P.E. Elective committees will give their penultimate reports at tonight's Amador Valley Joint High School District board meeting.

Trustees convene at 8 p.m. in the District Educational Center board room at 123 Main St.

Both committees must have final reports and possible recommendations to the board by next month as the smoking and P.E. legislation go into affect Jan. 1, 1976.

A final survey to be reviewed by board members tonight, from the smoking panel, indicates a majority of parents, teachers and students (taken as one group) favor doing away with the rule prohibiting smoking on campus.

However, extracting just the parent section of the survey shows they are opposed to doing away with the rule.

The tide is swung when the almost 2 to 1 student tally (for smoking on campus) is added.

The survey also shows the total group polled being opposed to enforcing the present policy (prohibiting smoking). The final count shows 1,055 voting "no" and 694 "yes."

On whether smoking, if permitted, should be at a designated area on campus or anywhere, the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the former, 1,519 to 319 with 44 not responding.

The survey was compiled by Linda Alexander of the Amador Valley High faculty and Carl Walter, an Amador parent. Thirty-nine per cent of the parents responding smoke.

Trustees will also consider and award bid on stage lighting, rigging and lighting at the Amador auditorium, accept a gift from the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club, award bid on athletic equipment for Foothill High, approve a classified professional growth policy and administrative rules and regulation, discuss senior class activities and hear a report from the Graduation Task Force.

DUBLIN — Murray School District board members have begun the process towards selecting a replacment for Joanne Bascom, a trustee for three years before her surprise resignation last Wednesday.

Trustees can make an interim appointment for 30 days during which time an individual or group within the district may circulate a petition for an election. If a minimum of 5 per cent of the number of voters who voted in the last district election sign the petitions, the district would have to hold a special election.

If that does not occur, the interim appointee could be seated as a permanent board member.

Mrs. Bascom's term runs through March of 1977.

Mrs. Bascom's last address in the district was on Mount McKinley Court in Pleasanton. She gave her "personal reasons" as the cause for resigning.

Trustees also acted to set a date for a bond election for completion of Dolan School in the amount of $1 million. The Dolan site is located above the Silvergate area.

Much of the site work has already been completed for the intermediate school located off of Castillian Dr.

The MacMillan Fling

Maggie Abbott, left, secretary at Neil Armstrong School in San Ramon, and Bonnie Hutchins, principal at neighboring Walt Disney School, will perform a Highland Fling this morning for students at Disney. Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Hutchins are sisters and the green plaid they are wearing is that of the MacMillan clan in Scotland.

Homeowners to consider parking ban

SAN RAMON — The San Ramon Homeowners Association will hear arguments Thursday on a proposal to ask Contra Costa County to ban parking on parts of Alcosta Blvd. and two adjacent streets.

The SRHA proposal would ban parking on the east sides of Davona and Brockton near the intersection with Alcosta, and on a portion of Alcosta east of the intersection with Davona.

Residents had complained of visibility problems when attempting to turn onto Alcosta due to the density of parked cars. Bike riders on Alcosta were also difficult to see due to the parking.

The SRHA membership will also hear a report on a recent Congress of Valley Agencies (COVA) meeting regarding the status of local bus service.

Further breakdowns in ambulance service to the San Ramon area and methods to streamline this service will also be discussed.

The SRHA will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of Neil Armstrong School, 2849 Calais Dr. in San Ramon.

Presbyterians re-affirm vote to move church

PLEASANTON — Sunday, the congregation of the United Presbyterian Community Church voted to "re-affirm the vote passed on June 15 to move the church and Sanctuary to the Mirador site," by a 33 margin of 147 "yes" to move and 114 "no" not to move. The total 261 votes cast was in agreement with the "exact" number of members (out of 800 to 850 active members) who signed in at the beginning of the meeting.

A tentative date of Dec. 7 has been scheduled by the Building Committee to once again call a congregation meeting to present to the members, definite costs of moving and expanding both buildings. If at this time, members are not in agreement with costs presented, "another motion," according to the Reverend Robert Vogt, can then come on the floor."

"As told back in May," said the Reverend, "this is another of the check points whereby members of the church are kept informed and if at this point not in agreement with what has been presented, other steps could then be considered. Think wisely and pray," were the words Reverend Vogt left with his congregation following the meeting Sunday which led into many motions, amendments to motions and voting.

Lew Helgeson, who served on the building committee in the late 1950's and through the 60's when the congregation, at that time, was trying to formulate its long-range growth plans presented an entirely different approach which could perhaps help the church with its building plans.

Helgeson gave an in depth report on past building studies stating the following was the responsibility to be taken into consideration on making a decision for additional facilities: Provide facilities that will allow members to carry out God's purpose in Pleasanton, spreading His message of redemptive love; provide facilities so that all church functions can be on one site; plan as carefully as did those who built the present church, i.e., plan for the next 100 years; build facilities for an eventual church membership in the range of 1200 to 1500 active members and without seeking special favors from the Planning Commission or City Council.

The 1200 to 1500 members figure was based on church and church school attendance locally and nationwide. With the above number of "active members" a seating capacity of approximately 500 was determined. The current "active membership" at United Presbyterian is between 800 and 850 members. Helgeson stated that in their study, "one important fact that was revealed in both church and church school attendance was limited by the seating capacity of the Sanctuary and the various school facilities.

Helgeson also pointed out that "since 1962 there have been several reviews, surveys of the congregation, etc., but nothing positive came of them. Perhaps the time was not right," he said.

Stating that perhaps the "time is right," Helgeson went on to say that he was not in agreement with either the present building committee's plans nor the alternative plan presented, as in his opinion, neither would serve the church's purposes on a "long range growth."

He also felt the $250,000 figure for costs was probably not correct as several years ago a "bare bone" figure of cost just for building, not moving the Sanctuary or social hall and expanding, came to about $350,000. He feels a figure of $400,000 would "probably be closer now because of inflation."

In spite of the fact that it was stated that a congregation of the present size could raise the stated $250,000 needed, Helgeson felt he had a solution to the building committee's problem.

"I propose," he said to the congregation, "that we contact the rest of the people of Pleasanton and seek their financial help. Pleasanton is known as a city of affluence. Let us appeal to many of our more affluent friends who may be members of the church and to inactive members of the church who probably love the building as much as some of us do and would like to see it remain at its present location, but who are not currently supporting us with their financial contributions."

He went on to state that "I am also sure there are many people who are not associated with this church in any manner who would be willing to give to the building fund in order to preserve the building on the Neal site. There may be people," he said, "who have no religious affiliations at all, who would be willing to make a generous donation solely as a means to reduce their income tax through a gift to a charitable organization.

Let us contact the business establishments for their assistance. Let us pursue Lorrie Lund's idea of seeking financial help from the government. Lastly," he said, "we could sell this facility to another church and let God's message continue to flow from this building with a slightly different voice, but still proclaim the same message — God is love."

Helgeson backed up his proposed solution with, "I firmly believe we can raise the necessary funds to build a minimum, but integrated facility at the Mirador site and am prepared to 'put my money where my mouth is,' backing it with my financial support."

Following his presentation, Helgeson then made a motion incorporating his solution; however, the motion was not passed. As stated by one member, "that approach had been taken previously and did not work out." Helgeson's reaction to that comment is, "the time is right." Whitney Roberson asked if an "investigation" could be made into Helgeson's proposal. However, she did not receive a direct answer to her inquiry.

Anyone interested in making written pledges to Helgeson's proposal or desiring further information, may do so by calling 846-3453 or 846-2971.

Community Award nominations asked

Nominations of individuals, civic groups and leaders of commerce who have served the community with distinction in 1975 are being sought for consideration in the Community Development Awards. These citations are given in conjunction with the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce annual dinner gathering, set for Castlewood Country Club on Jan. 16.

Mark Gerton, chairman of this year's selection committee, asks that "anyone who has a name to suggest for consideration of this fine tribute is urged to submit that name to the chamber office before Dec. 15."

In past years, about ten such awards have been given, representing a broad cross section of community service.

Amador grad cited for courage

PLEASANTON — Lee and Mildred Mayhue were very proud parents last week when they heard the news their son, Donald. received a commendation for saving someone's life.

Donald, who attended Amador High School with the class of 1966, is a police officer in Junction City, Kansas. While on patrol October 15, Mayheu found a man unconscious on the sidewalk with no visible signs of breathing. He instructed an arriving officer to phone an ambulance and applied mouth - to - mouth resuscitation to the unconscious man.

The man began breathing, his heart resumed beating and an ambulance arrived within minutes to transport him to Irwin Army Hospital where it was determined he had suffered a stroke. The man, Arthur Dudley, is alive and home.

In Pleasanton yesterday, Lee Mayhue said his son has been doing a good job on the Junction City police force for the past two years. "I was glad he didn't show racial prejudice. The man he helped was colored," said Mayheu. "We're very proud of him."

The Mayheus have five other children, including a son, Robbie, a freshman at San Jose State, who is doing campus police work part-time.

Cancer display

Grants available for unique science projects

The Alameda County Heart Association is now accepting applications for the Kenelm M. Benson, M.D., memorial "Science on a Shoestring" awards.

The program offers students in grades 7 through 12 grants of up to $75 to design and carry out unique science projects.

The awards are in honor of the late Dr. Kenelm M. Benson, a former president of the Alameda County Heart Association, and are given to encourage students to pursue careers in the sciences.

awards are made by a select screening committee of Heart Association volunteers who consider each application on the basis of project originality and practicability, and whether the student has ade-quately designed the project. Preference will be given to projects that deal with the heart and circulatory system.

Application forms for Science on a Shoestring awards are available from school science teachers or directly from the Alameda County Heart Association on Oakland (632-9606.) Applications will be accepted until Jan. 8, 1976.

Wilbur Jasper Hearon, of 703 North Livermore Ave. was arrested after police found Dorothy Frances Huffman lying face up on the floor of the couple's apartment.

Police were alerted to the scene by Hearon himself, who apparently called for an ambulance earlier. Ambulance attendants called Hearon back to get the apartment number, who he said he didn't want any help after all.

Police found the apartment and saw Huffman lying on the floor. Officer Lou Andrade said he saw "numerous black and blue bruises on both eyes and about her face" on the woman.

Huffman was taken to Valley Memorial Hospital's intensive care unit in critical condition with a fractured skull. She was reported in fair condition yesterday.

LIVERMORE — Six people were injured Friday night when two cars collided at the intersection of Stanley Blvd. and El Caminito Ave.

Thomas Anthony Zimmerman, 23, of 8526 Deervale Drive in Dublin and two passengers were eastbound on Stanley Blvd. Janice Lynn Kincade, 30, of 5541 Blackbird Drive in Pleasanton and her twins, Todd and Stacy, both age four, were beginning to make a left turn onto Stanley from El Caminito.

Zimmerman's car broadsided Kincade's auto, sending all six to Valley Memorial Hospital.

All three Kincades were treated for minor cuts and bruises and released, as was Green. May was transferred to Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek with a possible fracture of his arm.

Zimmerman remains at VMH and is listed in satisfactory condition with multiple cuts.

Livermore Police Officers Bob Stansell and Gaylen Johnson were first to arrive at the scene of the accident and reported that residents of the area were very generous in supplying first aid supplies, blankets and first aid to the injured. "We couldn't have handled the situation ourselves, and I'd like to thank the residents who helped us after the accident," Stansell said.

LIVERMORE — A Granada High School student sustained a one and one-quarter inch cut on the right side of his forehead after being struck on the head with a glass bottle.

Lenen Greg Sandy, 17, of Concannon Ave. was treated and released from Valley Memorial Hospital after the incident.

Sandy told police he was sitting in a truck cab on 4th St. near Maple Friday when a glass object was suddenly broken over his head.

While being administered first aid, a security guard told police he overhead a man at Jack-in-the-Box boasting he had broken a thermos over somebody's head. Police described the suspect as a Latino, aged about 21 years, long brown hair, black mustache, and driving a green Camaro.

PLEASANTON — Vandals threw rocks through a four by six foot plate glass window at Foothill High School early Saturday and stole more than $100 of school property, police said yesterday. The vandals pryed open a door to classroom B-26 and stole a live three-foot Iouana named "Ing" and two plexiglass aquariums yalued at $20 each "Ing" is valued at about $60.

Rocks were thrown around in the hallway and near the cafeteria, where more shattered glass could be seen, police said.

LIVERMORE — A would-be thief broke into a parked station wagon early Saturday but found the large sample cases he was interested in obtain tennis shoe samples — only for the right foot.

Robert Leslie Whittington of the 700 block of Partridge Common told police he found his car had been entered but nothing was missing from the cases he used to show sample shoes.

LIVERMORE — While attending Livermore High School's football game Friday night, Bonita Mae Kingscott felt a tug on the purse she had wrapped around her legs so it wouldn't be lost.

Suddenly the strap snapped and a thief ran off from under the grandstand with her purse containing $60 in cash and 15 credit cards. Kingscott's husband gave chase but couldn't catch up to the swift-footed purse-snatcher.

Two boys later found the purse — empty — and turned it in to police.

LIVERMORE — A color television and stereo system valued at $750 were stolen from Mickey Elizabeth Jones' house in the 1100 block of Catalina Saturday night.

PTA helps with audio study aid

PLEASANTON — Children at Valley View School have another instructional aide at their disposal, thanks to the concern and follow-through of parent-teacher association members.

The Systems 80 machine allows elementary-age students to work independently on audio-visual lessons ranging from phonics and language arts to mathematics.

The machines are leased from Borg-Warner and the PTA has purchased over $1,000 in kits to go with the seven machines.

Acquisition of the Systems 80 came about after parents and teachers started looking for materials for a resource center. Seven kits have been acquired to go with the machines.

Students are given a pre - test and a post - test after familiarity with the Systems 80 and the kits used with same.

The Systems 80 can be used as either a remedial or enrichment "tool." At present, there is one available at each grade level at the K-5 school.

Dental checks in progress

LIVERMORE — School students in grades kindergarten through 11 are receiving dental checks from a team of dentists from the Alameda County Health Care Services Agency.

Information collected from the checks will be used to plan an experiment in which the Livermore Unified School District is taking part to test the effectiveness of a fluoride mouth rinse. Students have been selected by chance from those whose parents have signed permission slips. Other children will be examined each November for the next three years of the program.

The tooth examinations have already been done at all elementary schools involved. Checks are scheduled for Granada High on Nov. 19 and 20, Livermore High Nov. 21 and Dec. 3; Junction Intermediate on Dec. 4 and 5, 12:30-3 p.m.

Expert brings the world of Jack London to Livermore

By JEAN McKENNA

Today he's the world authority on Jack London, with 15,000 file cards cataloguing every day of the famous American author's life and the largest bibliography ever compiled on London's life and work.

Yet eight years ago, Russ Kingman had never read a single book by Jack London.

With a background that approaches London's in its variety and color — he has been a minister, director of an advertising agency and a 14-year Navy man — Kingman now devotes full-time to the museum of Jack London memorabilia he has assembled and his Jack London bookstore.

It was eight years ago that Kingman was assigned to publicize the Jack London Square in Oakland, and as a professional advertising director, he believed that the logical way to promote the square was to promote the man himself. In order to do that, Kingman would have to become an expert on Jack London — for the first two years he spent 12 hours a day reading London's works and sources.

He has been hooked on Jack London ever since. Arranging with the Port of Oakland to bring the Jack London Cabin down from the Yukon, he personally led an expedition to the cabin in the Klondike wilderness. Travelling the same frozen trails London had traced, and surmounting a near-tragic brush with the forces of nature on that trip, deepened his addiction.

The World of Jack London Museum and Book Store is set among the vineyards of the Valley of the Moon, on the edge of the 969-acre London family ranch in Glen Ellen, now a state park just north of Sonoma. The museum houses the largest collection of London memorabilia known, including the typewriter that produced the manuscripts of Jack's novels and short stories, the badge worn by Jack's policeman father, Mother London's spectacles.

Kingman admits that furnishing the museum has been a challenge. A check signed by Jack London is worth $100 today; letters are valued at $250.

Jack London is the most popular American author in the world — publishers in both France and Switzerland just issued 20-volume sets of his work according to Kingman. He believes that London will soon be the most popular author in the United States, quoting a recent letter from a Michigan publisher as an example of the growing recognition of the tough-hewn, unschooled author: "The academic world is now ready to acclaim him as great."

Yet "The Call of the Wild" published in 1903 was an immediate best-seller, especially among the working class who identified with his red-blooded heroes and his simple, realistic style Longshoreman, sailor, Alaskan gold hunter and war correspondent, London pioneered in creating a taste for "men with the bark on them."

For example, the popular misconception that

Russ Kingman, an authority on Jack London, will address the Livermore Heritage Guild

Jack London was a drunken socialist probably originated in the realistic, but somewhat exaggerated portrait of a drunk in London's novel "John Barleyborn," according to Kingman.

Next year will be the hundredth anniversary of the author's birth, and a time of celebration for London-phils such as Russ Kingman. For a sixth year he is organizing a Jack London banquet to be attended by representatives from all over the country in January, and he plans to host similar celebrations throughout the centennial year honoring such people as Becky London, the author's youngest daughter now 73 years old.

Kingman has lectured across the country on London and other Bay Area authors of the turn-of-the-century, and he is currently writing five books including a discussion of Jack London and the Klondike, and a treatise on Jack London and Christianity.

He will share his wealth of knowledge about the well-loved author at a Jack London Night dinner lecture hosted by the Livermore Heritage Guild Thursday, Nov. 20 at the Livermore Station. Reservations for the dinner lecture at $6.75 per person may be made by sending a check to the Livermore Heritage Guild, P.O. Box 961, Livermore, Calif. 94550.

Because only 80 persons can be accommodated at the dinner, Kingman will also appear at the Carnegie Building History Center Nov. 20 from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

"Kingman is able to dramatize London's personality," declares the editor of the College English Association, "His audience does not merely know about the man — they feel that they have met the man himself."

ABWA's Mexico

"Mexico, Land of Enchantment" will be the subject of Bob Athenour tonight as he addresses members of the Livermore Valley Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association. Athenour of A&M Travel Service in Pleasanton will explain why Mexico is at the top of his list of favorite countries to visit. He will offer tips on how to travel by land, sea or air, and what to look for when selecting a restaurant, hotel or sight-seeing tour.

The ABWA convenes at Hap's Restaurant for cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7 o'clock. Ms Sylvia McDaniel, of Sandia Laboratories, will be the vocational speaker for the evening.

Up, up, and away for Christmas

Livermore Newcomers will soar 'Up, up and away for Christmas pay' in a parade of fanciful fashions at Castlewood Country Club Wednesday, Nov. 19. Members and guests are encouraged to bring husbands for a sneak preview of fashions from A Separate Affair in Dublin, shoes by Carlin's of Livermore and make-up by Holly Graham of Merle Norman Cosmetics. Reservations for the buffet luncheon and style show at $5.25 per person are available through Arlene Burt at 447-9605 or Jan Correia at 443-6512. The roster of models includes Murita Hudson, Cass Broadbent and Linda Johnson.

Plant Talk

By SUE JOHNSON

As I have explained in previous columns, house plants require management in their watering. The first classification of watering needs is known as "constantly moist soil," typically required by the true ferns. The second classification is described as "surface dry soil," required by many exotic plants.

The third classification is for plants that are content when the soil is allowed to dry a quarter-inch below the surface. Plants in this category include dracaenas, dieffenbachias, avocadoes, hoyas, rosary vine, tradescantias, zebrinas (wandering jews), tripogandra (Tahitian bridal veil), chlorophytums (spider plant), plectranthus (Swedish ivy), columneas, and asparagus ferns, which are not true ferns.

Cissus (kangaroo vine, grape ivy) for the most part are watered when the soil dries below the surface. An exception is cissus discolor which is a terrarium plant that wants constant moisture.

In the final category, known as "drench and dry," are the plants that must go quite dry between waterings. Notice I said "quite dry" and not "bone dry." Few plants will do well if allowed to go bone dry, although some cacti will survive. Hopefully, it is your ambition to do better than simply insure your plants' survival.

Again, use your finger to measure moisture. Dig your finger into the soil to a depth of about a half-inch, and water only if the soil is dry to that depth. Into this category fall the true cacti and cactus-like plants, many with spines and most with the need for a real dormancy period in the winter in order to flower in spring. When watering is all but stopped completely during dormancy, the plant is kept cool to discourage growth.

Orchids and bromeliads present special watering problems. Generally speaking, bromeliads like to have water kept in their cups or vases, but they don't want to have their bases watered more than once a week.

Orchids with those water-storage units called pseudobulbs like to go quite dry between waterings. When watering these, soak them as orchid roots are covered with a spongy material that absorbs and holds water. Orchids without pseudobulbs fall into the second category and should go surface dry bewteen waterings.

Adelines host post-show party

The Golden Hills Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., will host a "Wasn't It a Great Show — — I'm Still Exhausted" party for members and guests tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The chorus meets at the Presbyterian Church in Pleasanton. For more information about the group, or for transportation to the rehearsal, contact Diane Dyke at 846-6747 or Louise Needham at 455-0477.

Mats will need full game against Mission

Friday's North Coast football playoff featuring Granada High and Mission San Jose should be a classic.

The Warriors are a big, strong, imposing team. They'll attempt to intimidate the Matadors who are smaller, but fast.

That's the way they've played on occassion during an 8-1 season that concluded with a 14-10 win over Livermore last Friday for the EBAL championship.

In that game, as in many others, Granada played one strong quarter, plus three that were merely adequate. It will take a full game, coach Don Couch said yesterday, to stay even with Mission. The Warriors are top ranked in the East Bay with a 10-0 record. Granada is rated sixth.

Nevertheless, Couch figures his team is in fine position. It has finally balanced the offense between run and pass, and both facets of the game will be put to use against Mission.

Quarterback John Walden completed six of 10 passes against Livermore for 112 yards. One, a sharp spiral in the right flat to Brian McSharry, went for 47 yards and set up the winning touchdown.

"That play was open all night," Couch said afterwards "We could have made more out of it, but a couple of guys let balls go off their fingertips."

Regardless, Couch said, the Livermore game convinced his staff that Granada can move through the air. "We developed more confidence in our passing game than we ever have," he said yesterday "Before, we just never fot to the point where we had to use it. Friday night we did.

"We're not going to wait for that point this week though," Couch added. "We'll include the pass as a regular part of our game plan."

Of course they won't expect the same from Mission San Jose. The Warriors may be the most awesome rushing team in the East Bay. Halfback Kevin Turner has picked up 1,229 yards in 10 games, and fullback Sean Sullivan, 1,156. Mission defeated Dublin early in the season, 47-7, throwing only once the entire game.

What's more, the Warriors are down to their third quarterback, Greg Sullivan. That should mean Mission will rely just as heavily on the work horse runners, even though Sullivan threw for two touchdowns in a 35-6 whipping of Memorial Friday.

"They've been able to run at will, so they have no reason to throw against us," Couch said. The Granada staff has acquired four MSJ films for study this week, and according to Couch, there are only eight passes in all of that footage.

Mission's offense is basic enough, with Turner running outside and Sullivan inside, that defensive deployment should be a cinch. But that's just part of the problem.

"It's easy to get people where they're going to be," Couch said "It's just a matter of your people stopping their's."

Mission's quarterback problems began in mid season when backup Mike Zuniga quit. Near the end of the year, starter Kelly Turner was forced out by a back ailment, leaving the load with Sullivan.

Mike Zampa

Amy, girls can play now

Amy Love, the little Danville nine-year old has won her pioneering legal battle with the California Youth Soccer Association, and now boys soccer in Northern California has been thrown open to girls.

Amy's attorneys from Equal Rights Advocates, Nancy Davis and Mary Dunlap, reached an out of court settlement with CYSA counsel Ned Fine last week that toppled the organization's sex discrimination clause.

Girls may now play with boys teams in the CYSA, even though in some communities, there are seperate programs for females.

Young ladies may petition immediately for CYSA admission, if they attempted to register at the beginning of the year, and were turned down because of their sex.

That's what happened to Amy when her name was submitted to CYSA on the roster of an Alamo soccer team.

When she was rejected by Livermore district commissioner Ron Steele, Amy's parents took the issue to court. It was handled by Equal Rights Advocates of San Francisco, which insisted that girls have every right to play with boys.

CYSA objected, saying that for reasons of safety, and because girls have access to their own leagues, they shouldn't take the field with boys.

Amy's counsel won a restraining order at the beginning of soccer season, which has allowed her to compete right up to last week's settlement.

Now beginning next autumn, any young girl may seek admission to CYSA boys teams.

In its agreement, CYSA said it will take extraordinary measures the remainder of this season, waiving roster limits for teams that will pick up female players immediately.

Aquacowboys record 19 A's

Grizzly game

The Patriots won Ballistic Soccer Club's under-12 first division crown with a penalty kick tie-breaker decision over the Phantoms last weekend.

Mike Merrill, Bobby Martin and Steve Raymond all scored during the kickoff.

Two hundred toast Bicentennial at costume ball sponsored by LBO

One hundred couples toasted the Bicentennial Year in grand style this weekend at the Livermore Bicentennial Costume Ball, with blue bonnets, powdered wigs, feathered headdresses and tri - cornered caps nodding and bobbing to the rhythms of the Starliters Orchestra past midnight.

Althaugh the Livermore Bicentennial Organization will probably just break even financially on the event, the ball was considered a successful community celebration of the Bicentennial, according to Hugh Ellsaesser of the LBO.

Most of the party-goers donned heritage costumes in the spirit of the ball, with Mr. and Mrs. John Stroud of Livermore capturing the first prize for the best costumes, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Corallo judged a close second.

MARTY SMITH, DEFENDING 125CC CHAMP SOARS TO LEAD

Trans' Moto Sunday

Carnegie Cycle Park will present the fifth annual Trans-AMA International Motocross Classic Sunday, featuring top drivers from all over the world.

This is the 10th stop in the $225,000 motocross series.

Heading Eruope's contingent of riders Sunday at Livermore is Roger DeCoster, four-time world champion, and the defending series champ. Also on hand will be Gerritt Wolsink, U.S. Grand Prix winner.

Gates will open at 8 a.m. Sunday. Admission is $8 and half-price for youngsters under 13.

Late United rally topples DV, 2-0

Pleasanton United waited until the final 10 minutes of play Sunday to defeat Diablo Valley, 2-0, in an Alcosta Soccer League match.

Steve Swadley scored in the 80th minute of play on Bret Boldrini's assist, and Al Cano struck the final score five minutes later.

Bill Ludwig insured Pleasanton's victory on opening day with three big saves in the second half. Frank Gomez and Greg Heier anchored the United defense.

Tri-Valley Soccer Club played sloppy defense but earned a 4-3 victory nevertheless, over Dublin. Rich Timmons scored three Tri - Valley goals, including one on a penalty kick Ed Garcia had the other.

For Dublin, Elias Plais - Mayer, Marty Adamson and Tom Philipp scored.

Two intercepted passes in the Tri-Valley backfield were responsible for two of Dublin's scores.

Diablo Valley's Mark Petay also scored twice.

Sports briefs

Soccer hop

Ballistic Soccer Club will hold its annual dinner-dance Saturday, Nov. 22, 6 p.m. to 12:30 a.m., at Howard Johnson's in Dublin.

Cost is $6.50 per person.

Speakers will include Johnny Moore of the San Jose Earthquakes. The first showing of the Earthquakes' highlight film will be screened.

For ticket information, call 846-2731.

Kellman Field?

Livermore Soccer Club has asked the recreation department to name a new soccer playfield after Michael Kellman, a youth player killed in an automobile accident recently.

The area would be used for soccer, and as a community park. It is known know as the "Crum Property."

Dublin playoffs

Four teams enter playoffs this week in Dublin men's winter softball.

The Shams, 12-4 and the CC Riders, 12-5, head into the playoffs as tops in the East Division, and Hap's, 13-4, and Double D Construction, 12-5, represent the West.

Double D's Lance Mooney won the league's triple crown with a .649 batting average, eight home runs and 28 runs batted in Mooney slammed seven doubles Mean Machine's Mike Herr had four triples.

Squires' decision expected at noon

NORFOLK, Va. — The owners of the American Basketball Association's financially - troubled Virginia Squires yesterday postponed until noon today — a final decision on whether the team will finish the season or call it quits.

General Manager Jack Ankerson emerged from a 212-hour closed-door meeting of stockholders and said the final decision hinged on a single telephone call.

"We're one step away from putting together a financial package enabling us to finish the season," Ankerson said.

He would not say whether the additional money needed would come from one or more potential investors.

While Ankerson refused to say how much additional money the Squires need, majority stockholder Van Cunningham had put the figure at $400,000 following a no-decision meeting Sunday night.

Ankerson said the players would be informed of the postponement last night. He said the players apparently agreed to go unpaid until a final decision was made and said he knew of no dissension.

But there were reports that injured Mack Calvin and rookie Ticky Burden were among a handful of players who were opposed to going on without pay.

When asked about these reports, Ankerson replied: "Well, you're going to get some people who are unhappy."

The Squires had lacked the team and personnel payroll due Monday to cover the next 15 days and payments were postponed pending the outcome of the stockholders' meeting.

On top of those problems, the Squires were sued in Chicago Monday for $13,000 by the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association who claimed they hadn't been paid for an Oct. 12 exhibition game played here.

The Squires haven't been alone in their money woes. Two ABA franchises — the Baltimore Claws and the San Diego Sails — have folded this season. The Utah Stars also were having trouble meeting their payroll, although a team official said yesterday the payroll had been met. However, another official said the Stars would have trouble meeting another payroll in two weeks.

For Tuesday, Nov. 18, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Manage your resources with extra prudence today. Assume no new obligations. Be careful to whom you make loans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're likely to run into some opposition from an unexpected quarter. Don't make matters worse by getting uptight yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone is going to take you to task today for something that you were supposed to do, but haven't. Have your excuses ready.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Avoid chumming around today with a friend who is too set upon having his own way. You're in no mood to be dictated to.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't look for anything to be handed to you on a silver platter. It won't be. If you want something done, do it yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll find that ideas you thought others were in accord with will be challenged today. Try not to force compliance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be careful today not to be pressured into parting with something you like by a super salesman type. You know how to say "No" — and mean it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're going to have to deal with some people today you're not overly fond of. Skirt touchy issues.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This will be a day when things you've left undone pop up to haunt you. Hope you didn't sweep too much under the rug!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be careful today not to do something thoughtless that could create ill-will between you and a friend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Things aren't likely to be very placid on the home front today because of outside issues dropped on your doorstep.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Usually you keep your temper but today you could blow very easily over something you've tolerated before.

Your Birthday

Nov. 18, 1975

Align yourself this coming year with people who can help further your ambitions. Do so, not in the sense of using them, but of being able to offer them something in return.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

When should you make a passive lead in order to sit back and wait for tricks to come in?

The answer is, "very infrequently". The man who sits back and waits is very likely to still be waiting after his opponents have fulfilled their contract.

There is one classic exception. When your opponents have reached a slam and it does not appear that they have any long suit to work with. In this instance it is up to you to make the lead that is least likely to help them.

West holds three jacks. Not much in the way of defense against a slam, but his partner may have some cards and it is up to West to find the lead that is least likely to help declarer. That safest possible lead is a spade. If West makes this lead, declarer will struggle along. As long as the defenders take care, declarer will only collect 11 tricks.

A lead of either red suit will give him a 12th. A club lead won't help him, but there is no reason for West to do any guessing.

Ask the Jacobys

The Jacoby transfer bid is used in response to notrump openings. The transfers to majors are two diamonds to hearts and two hearts to spades.

Our Florida reader wants to know how you transfer if there is an overcall. The answer is that you just don't. When we discuss the bid early next year we will show how you can do this, if you wish.

Zone 7 reviews water plan

Zone 7 Board of Directors Wednesday night reviewed approaches for developing an integrated water quality plan for Alameda Creek watershed above Niles.

The zone earlier declared its intention to develop such a plan and had requested input from 11 agencies on how to proceed.

Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency reiterated its position that "there not be a proliferation of sewage treatment plants in the watershed."

In a letter from project director Danil Murphy LAVWMA told the zone "wastewater management programs should use LAVWMA treatment and transport facilities."

A LAVWMA resolution called "premature" any discussion of planning until Bay Area Sewage Services Agency has designated a lead agency. LAVWMA asked the zone to "hold the matter in abeyance" until BASSA had made its designation.

Director Harlan Zodtner said the recent LAVWMA resolution "clearly points up the lack of communication between LAVWMA and this board."

Becker agreed with LAVWMA saying, "nothing would make me happier than to prevent a proliferation of sewage treatment plants." But he added LAVWMA's "ability to inforce plans for the entire valley is severely limited."

Director Robert Pearson said he believed LAVWMA's concerns were real, if unfounded. He declared, "It is not my intention to promote development in the valley. I'd never vote to allow urban development in any area of the valley except those already incorporated."

Director George Lydiksen said the zone had a unique position in the valley, "and should continue to hold absolute control over the quality of underground water and anything affecting it."

Zodtner suggested there was no conflict between LAVWMA and the zone, just "a colossal lack of communication."

Zone 7 and LAVWMA directors will meet Tuesday, Nov. 18 at 5 p.m. in the Del Valle Treatment Plant to coordinate policy for water quality management planning in the valley.

Alameda County Water District, in a letter from M. P. Whitfield, said any action affecting the amount of effluent discharged into Alameda Creek was of interest to the water district. It stated ACWD would work with the zone to protect water quality in Niles Creek basin.

Bay Area Sewer Services Agency general manager Paul Saltaw told the zone any study into water management should include development of a program to reclaim and reuse wastewater. BASSA said the study should also consider development of a program to regulate individual septic tank systems.

Becker said these points backed the zone's position that "there is a direct effect by wastewater disposal on the underground systems." He said it indicated Zone 7 should be the lead agency.

Comments by California Regional Water Quality Control Board executive director Fred Dierker said any wastewater plan for areas outside those of LAVWMA's service area should be coordinated with LAVWMA.

In a letter from Mayor Archer Futch, the City of Livermore planning for the wastewater management aspect of water quality should be assumed by Livermore, Pleasanton and Valley Community Services District through its joint powers agency, LAVWMA.

JFK program Wednesday

Amador Valley High School students and sociology class instructor Robert Holland, standing right, organizing the "Who Killed JFK?" illustrated lecture Wednesday show off some of the materials that will be covered during the program. Jeff Cohen of the Assassination Information Bureau will speak and show a copy of the Zapruder film (which shows John F. Kennedy being struck by rifle fire) plus hundreds of photographs taken at the scene of the assassination. The AIB contention is that Kennedy's death was the result of a conspiracy. Tickets for the illustrated lecture are on sale at Amador Valley High School main office for $3 each. Seating is limited so residents are urged to get their tickets for the Sociology Speakers Bureau presentation as soon as possible. The program begins at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Amador auditorium.

Human relations commission seeks committee members

The Alameda County Human Relations Commission is looking for citizens to serve on several standing committees which are involved in several areas of social concern.

The commission is also seeking applications from Alameda County residents to fill two vacancies on the commission itself.

Anyone interested may contact Eddie James, chief assistant director of the Human Relations Department. His office at 401 Broadway, Oakland, may be reached at 874-6836.

The five committees of the Human Relations Commission for which members are being sought are the Employment Committee, Housing Committee, Children's Interest Committee, Education Committee and Police-Community Relations Committee.

Committee members investigate facts, discuss questions of policy and make recommendations for action to the Human Relations Commission.

The Employment Committee works towards elimination of discriminatory employment practices by private and public employers in the county and develops programs to enhance job opportunities for the unemployed and underemployed.

The Housing Committee seeks to eliminate discriminatory conditions and practices in housing and works for improvement of housing opportunities.

The Children's Interest Committee is concerned with the quality and coordination of services and programs which affect young people in Alameda County. Some areas in which the committee involves itself are children's mental health programs, legislation affecting children, foster care, protective services, and health screening.

Free.
With love from Crocker Bank.

Yours free with a $300 savings deposit.
Sunny makes banking bearable—for a change.

All you do is put $300 or more in a new or existing savings account at Crocker Bank, and he's yours.

(If you want to open a new Crocker account with money that's now in another bank, just bring us your passbook, and we'll handle the whole transfer for you.)

Sunny is seventeen inches tall. He's warm. He's soft. He's cuddly. He's a safe playmate, too. Made of non-toxic fire-retardant material, with his eyes locked in, and hand-washable.

And he's free. But don't wait. There's just one Sunny to a customer while the supply lasts. Don't you know someone who'd love to have him to love?

Crocker's changing banking.
